SILHOUETTE
OF
'69

JAMES VAUGHAN, EDITOR

For 1969, under the sponsorship of the Beta Club, a new Viking yearbook has been produced. The Viking staff, with the help of willing students, and guidance of devoted advisors, has put forth a special effort to accomplish this task. The staff has attempted to compile a book of school events to be long remembered and enjoyed, as well as one that will tell a proud story of our school.

Work first began in late summer with a complete outline for the groundwork. The early months of fall were taken up with selling ads to raise needed funds.

The detailed work for the production actually began in November. Step by step, page by page, our completely new annual has been developed. Our photographers have done their best to assemble a story in pictures of a year's events and accomplishments.

As a result, the staff hopes to have created the most interesting as well as the most comprehensive annual in the history of Brunswick Academy with the progress of our school evident on each page.

The members of the staff hope our efforts prove satisfactory, and it is with pride and a sincere feeling of appreciation to all those who made it possible that we present the Viking for 1969.

IN MEMORIAM

CLYDE RITTENHOUSE BUTLER
February 1, 1910 – June 1, 1968

President of Brunswick Academy Association
1964 – 1968

ACHIEVEMENT

That man is a success who has lived well,
Laughed often and loved much,
Who has gained the respect of intelligent men
And the love of children;
Who has filled his niche and accomplished his task;
Who leaves the world better than he found it,
Whether by an improved poppy,
A perfect poem or a rescued soul;
Who never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty
Or failed to express it;
Who looked for the best in others
And gave the best he had.

Robert Louis Stevenson

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

School policy in all matters, while enforced by the administration and faculty, is the responsibility of Brunswick Academy's Board of Directors. The men who compose this group are, in their occupation and places of residence, representative of the school's patrons.

With them lies the sometimes awesome duty of making decisions which affect the academy now and in the future.

Contained within the Board of Directors is a smaller group known as the Advisory Committee. Their smaller number enables these men to meet more frequently, to discuss upcoming items of business, and to advise the Board of Directors on policy decisions.

Everyone connected with Brunswick Academy owes all of these men their respect and appreciation for the untold time and work which they, with others before them, have devoted to the improvement of Brunswick Academy.

CUSTODIAN

People seldom appreciate the work of a good custodian. Students and teachers alike often become accustomed to seeing clean, orderly buildings without thinking of the work involved.

Anyone who has stayed after school has become aware of the time and effort spent in housekeeping by our custodian, Mr. Homer Craft. We realize how much Mr. Craft contributes to our school's appearance and we are grateful.

Homer G. Craft

CAFETERIA PERSONNEL

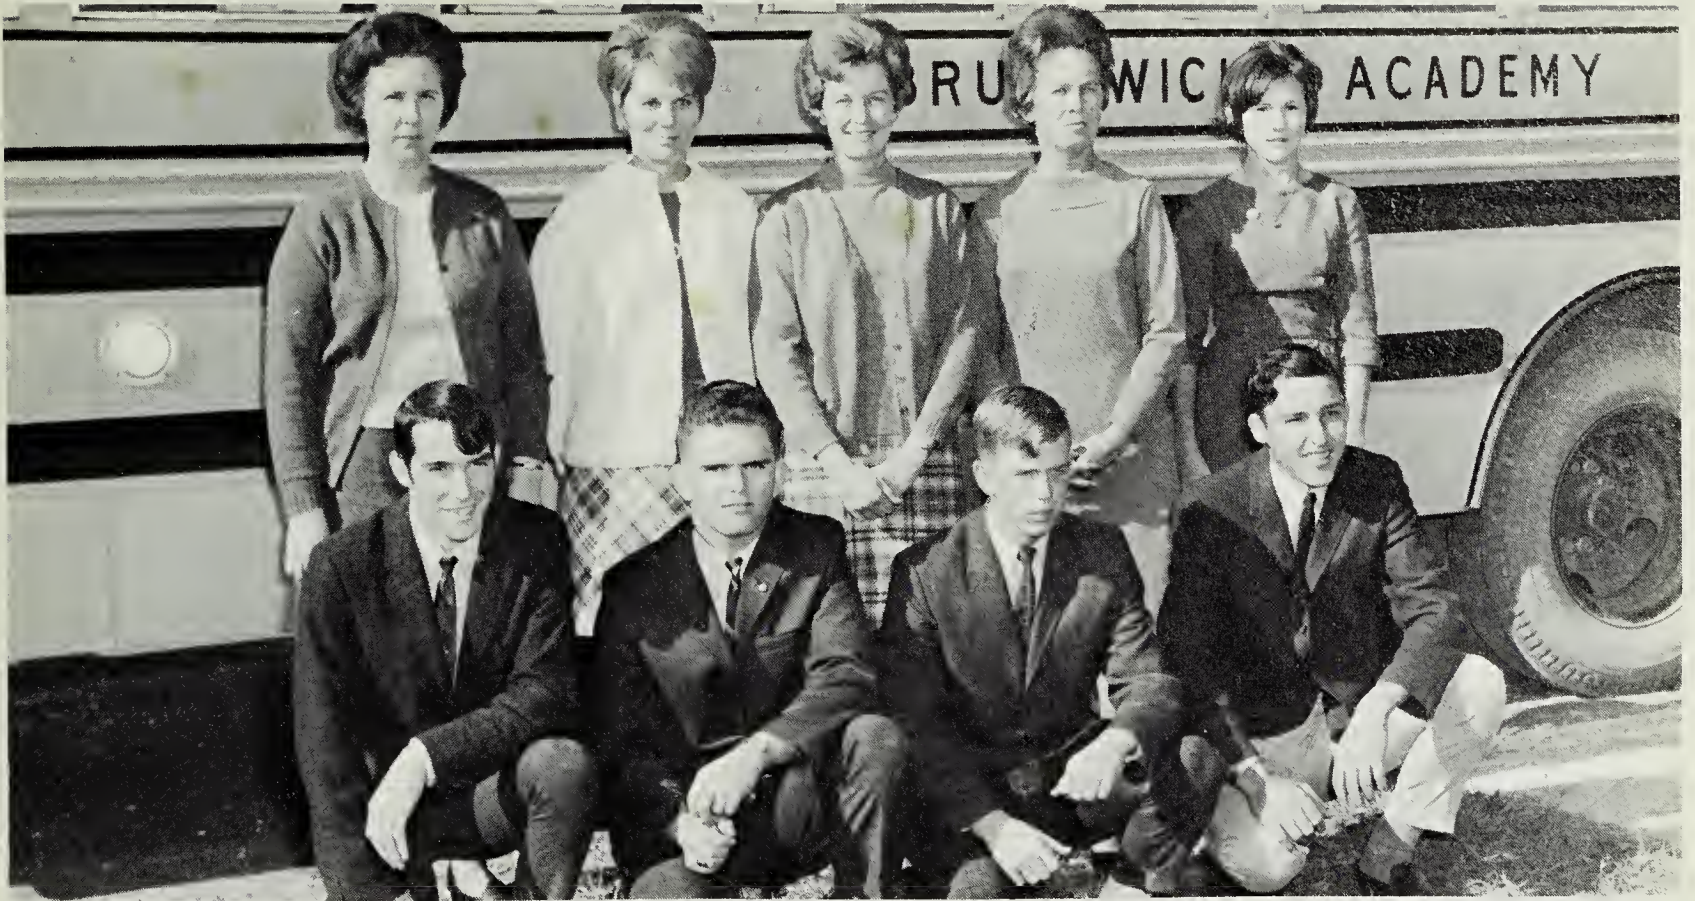

These three women are part of the dedicated cafeteria personnel of our school. Each day they fill the orders of many ravenous students. Their behind-the-scenes duties are often taken for granted, but we could not operate long without their hard work.

Growing students need to feed their bodies as well as their minds.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

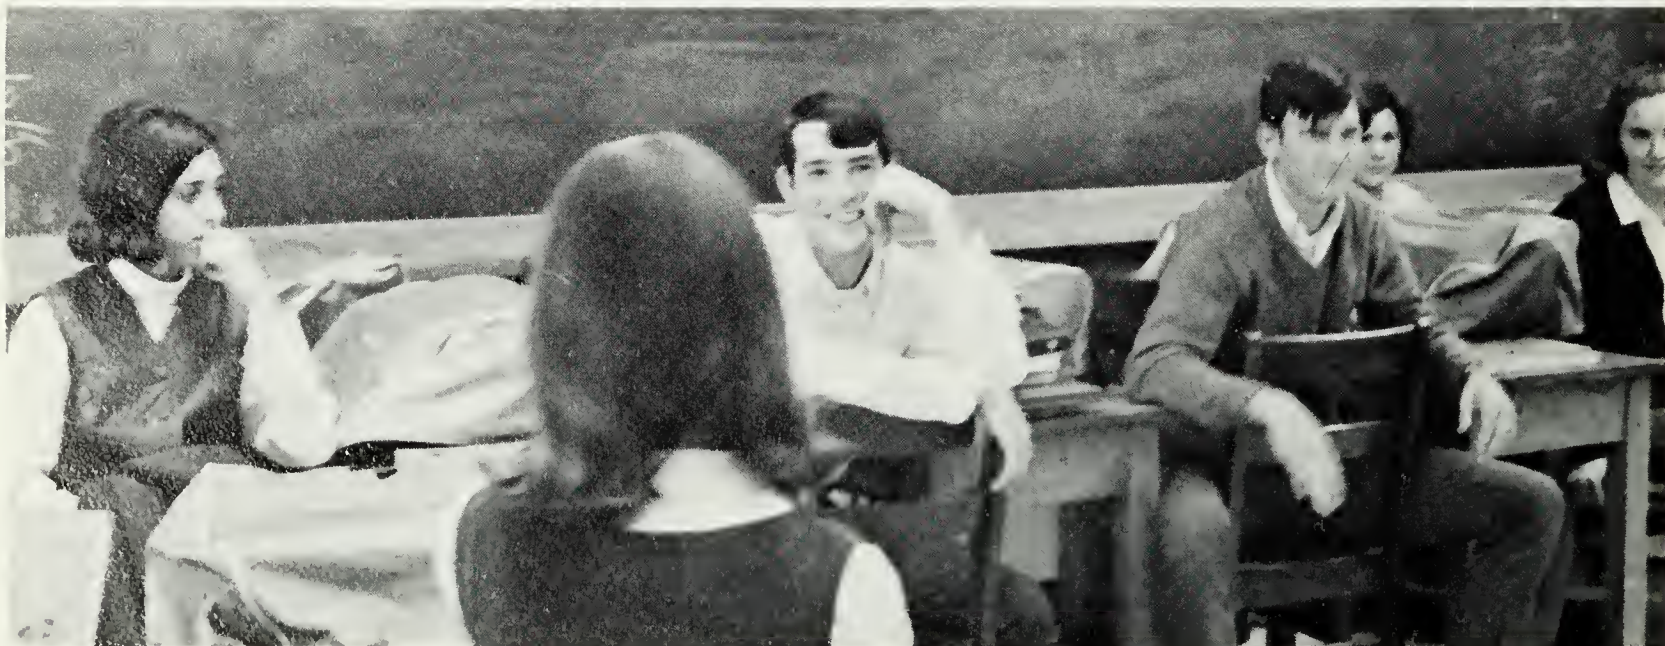

The Commercial Department offers a variety of courses for vocational students. Mrs. Mary H. Raiford is the sole instructor in this department.

Two years of Typing are offered. In these classes, students become acquainted with the skills of touch typing and also learn procedures for typing business letters, invoices, memos and other forms. For the future secretary, a two year course in Gregg Shorthand is available.

Bookkeeping familiarizes the future accountant with the basic procedures in the bookkeeping cycle. General Business provides the background essential for all business employees.

The typing room, this year, is fully equipped with electric typewriters, an adding machine and a duplicator which are all put to practical use.

Commercial students gather in Typing room.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Baker teaches attentive students.

The members of the English department of Brunswick Academy realize a democracy needs citizens trained in the skills of listening, reading, thinking, and the precise forceful expression of their ideas. To carry out a program which will benefit students in the achievement of such a goal is one of the major objectives in all of the English classes in the Academy. Moreover, it is the purpose of this department to stimulate high school boys and girls to attack zestfully the job of mastering the language skills. In order to accomplish such a purpose, emphasis is placed on the importance of understanding the fundamentals of functional grammar and punctuation, as well as the techniques of compositions. The need for the enrichment of vocabulary is stressed daily. Creative writing is encouraged and research is required.

Since literature is not something apart from other school subjects, nor from life itself, the English department has scheduled a good literary program in all of the five English classes, which fosters the enjoyment and appreciation of good literature.

Mrs. Jones hammers in knowledge.

Mrs. Doss with the tenth graders.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

Latin students take dictation from Mrs. Butler.

“nunc pro tune”

Aide-toi, le ciel t'aidera.

Quien no se aventura, no pasa la mar.

Our curriculum includes three foreign languages, Latin, French, and Spanish.

In the Latin courses, taught by Mrs. Helen Butler, the first year students learn the basic fundamentals of grammar and vocabulary. Second year students are challenged with more vocabulary and delve into the campaigns of Julius Caesar.

The French classes are organized similarly to the Latin classes. These students study vocabulary and grammar of the Romance language—French. Second year pupils enlarge their vocabulary and make a more detailed study of the language. Mr. T. R. Witten is the teacher.

This year only second year Spanish is offered. Much emphasis is placed on the art of speaking. Often the students tape their Spanish conversations in order to improve pronunciation and diction. Mrs. Paula Doss is our Spanish teacher this year.

Mrs. Doss lectures Spanish II class.

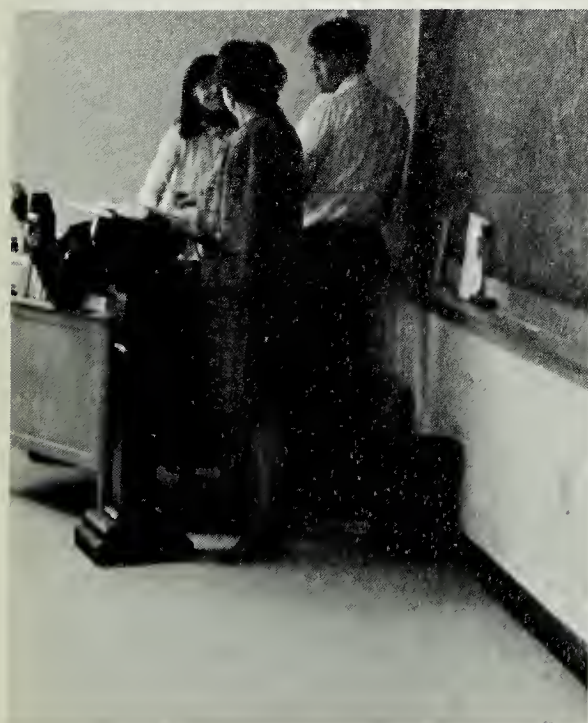

Mr. Witten's French students ponder translations.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

Seniors discuss plans with counselor.

The Guidance Department at Brunswick Academy is a great asset to the school and its students.

Mrs. Ola E. Jones, Mr. D. M. Patterson, and Mr. C. M. Saunders, Jr. are in charge of this department. A student may visit these three at various times to discuss such matters as career planning, college entrance requirements, testing scores, and problems of a personal nature.

The Guidance Department is a very real help to students since our counselors try earnestly to work out any problems the students care to share with them.

MATH DEPARTMENT

Miss Gilliam contemplates a question.

Mr. T. E. Blick, Jr. and Miss Jane Gilliam are the math instructors at Brunswick Academy where five years of math are taught. Two credits in mathematics are required for graduation.

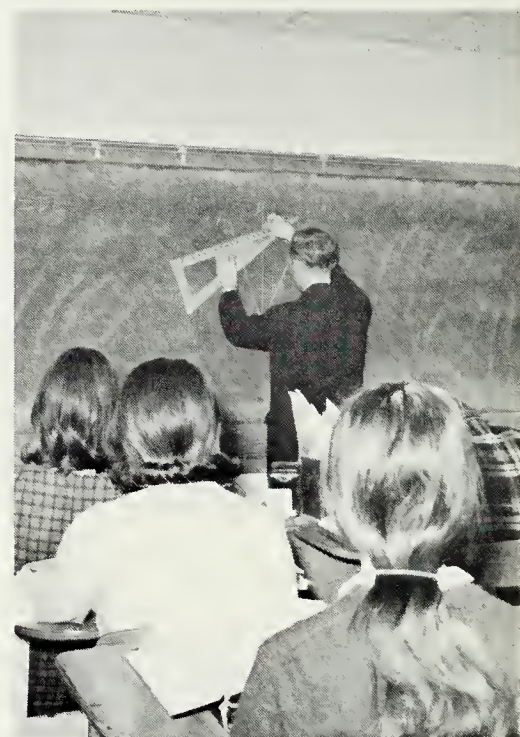

Eighth graders deal with a general course in both modern and traditional math.

Algebra I is required for Freshmen. In this course, a simple Algebra is introduced. College-bound students then advance into Algebra II for more detailed study.

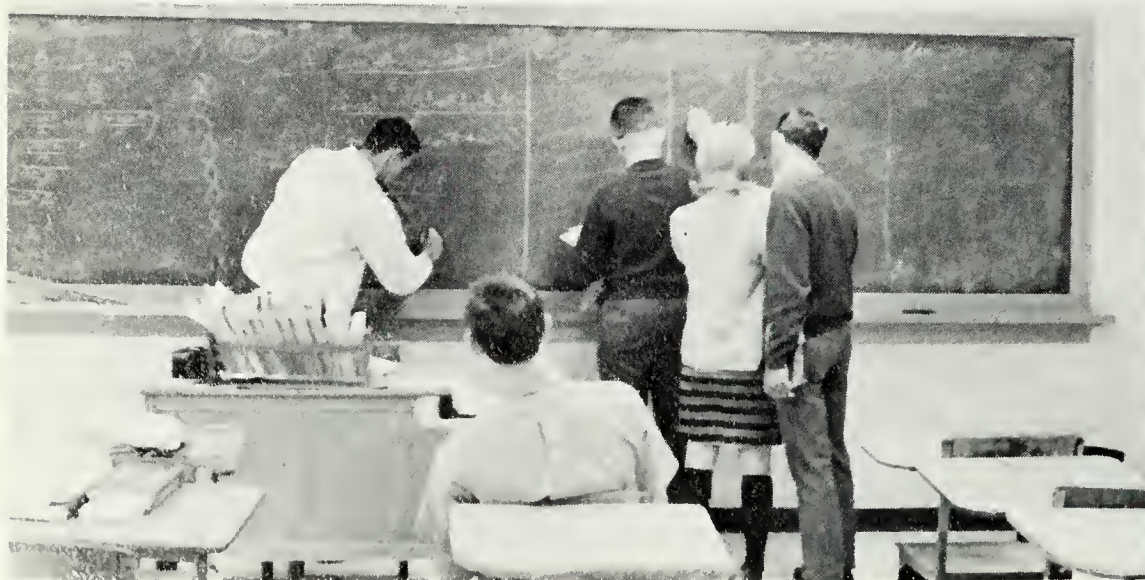

Juniors take Unified Geometry which combines both plane and solid geometry. This class deals with theorems, proofs, and reasoning.

Finally, Seniors study an advanced math of Trigonometry and Algebra.

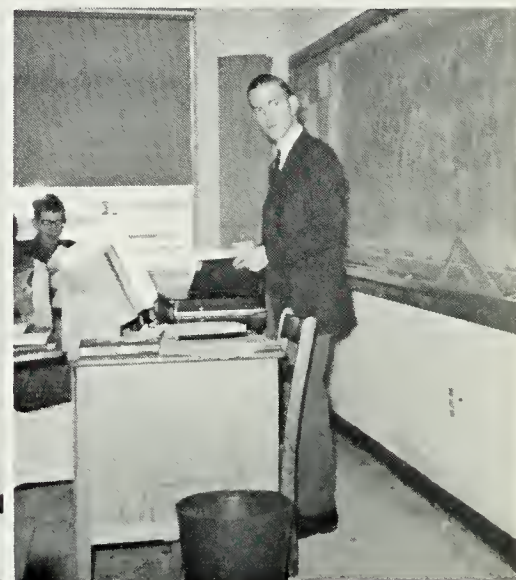

Math III is also offered. Miss Jane Gilliam teaches the class which is one in general mathematics.

Principles of congruency.

Seniors show homework solutions.

Class pauses for photographer.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Three years of physical education are required for graduation at Brunswick Academy. Mr. Larry Clary and Mr. Pete High are the instructors of this course.

Eighth graders study basic fundamentals of health, while both Sophomores and Freshmen are taught a course in driver's education.

The physical education students are not only required to do book work but also are expected to participate in outside games and activities. These students remain in the classroom for a certain length of time and spend the remainder of the class on the athletic field when the weather permits. They take part in activities such as volleyball, football, basketball, and baseball.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

For graduation, two laboratory sciences are required, one of which must be Biology, Chemistry, or Physics. Several other advanced courses are offered for college bound students. Mr. T. R. Witten, Miss Jane Gilliam, and Mrs. Ola E. Jones teach in this department.

Eighth graders study a course in general, concise science. Freshmen take a more detailed look at general science. Lab work accompanies the book study in this course.

Sophomores are required to have Biology in their curriculum. A great deal of experimentation goes on in the lab which boasts of much modern equipment.

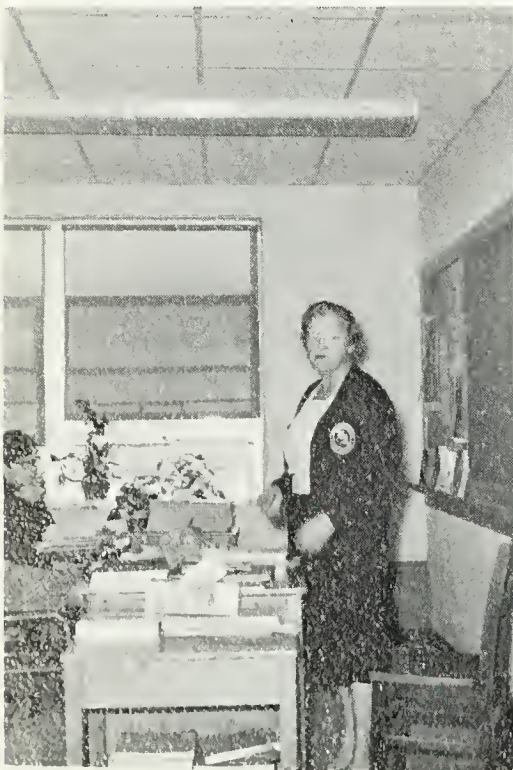

Juniors who are college preparatory students continue their studies with Modern Chemistry. The class performs many experiments during the year. They observe properties and functions of various elements.

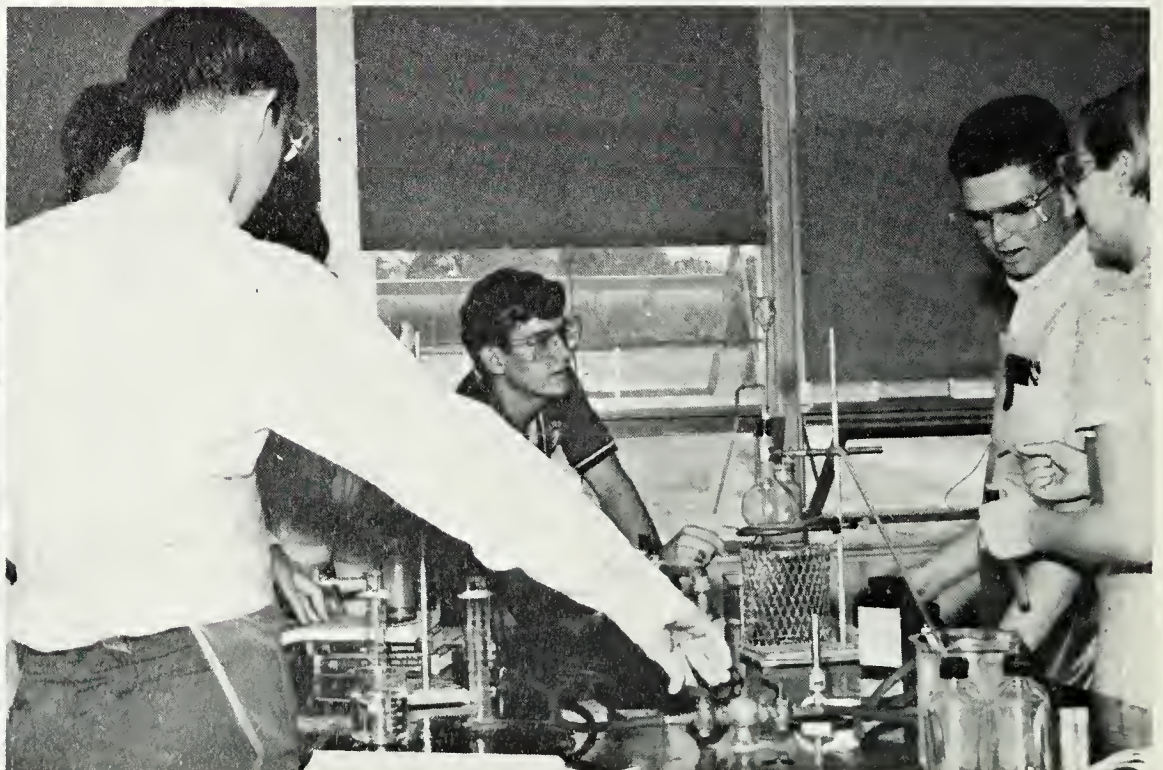

Mrs. Jones looks over work of Eighth Grade Science students.

Then the Seniors daringly take a try at Physics. Usually only college preparatory students care to dig into this subject.

Miss Gilliam prepares to begin class.

Students set up an experiment in laboratory.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

Mr. Conrad teaching first period World Geography class.

A big emphasis in many of the history classes this year was the 1968 election. The Government class in particular observed the event quite closely.

Eighth graders study American History which begins with the story of colonial days and continues on through the modern or space age.

World Geography is taken up by ninth graders. This is a general course on the geography of various countries of the world. Much concentration is placed on map study in this course.

Sophomores can take World History if they desire. World History is a complex study of leaders, governments, and beliefs of nations.

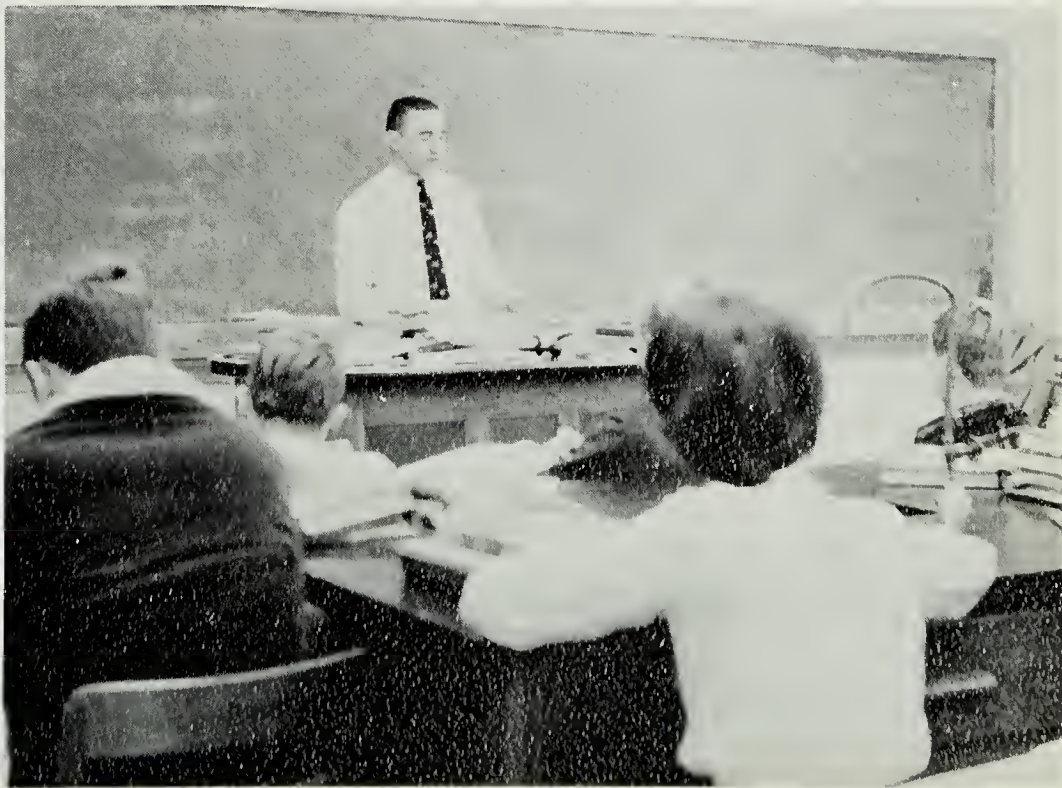

Juniors plunge into a more detailed study of American History than in the eighth grade. Many wars of American involvement are covered in this class.

As an elective, Sociology is offered to Juniors and Seniors.

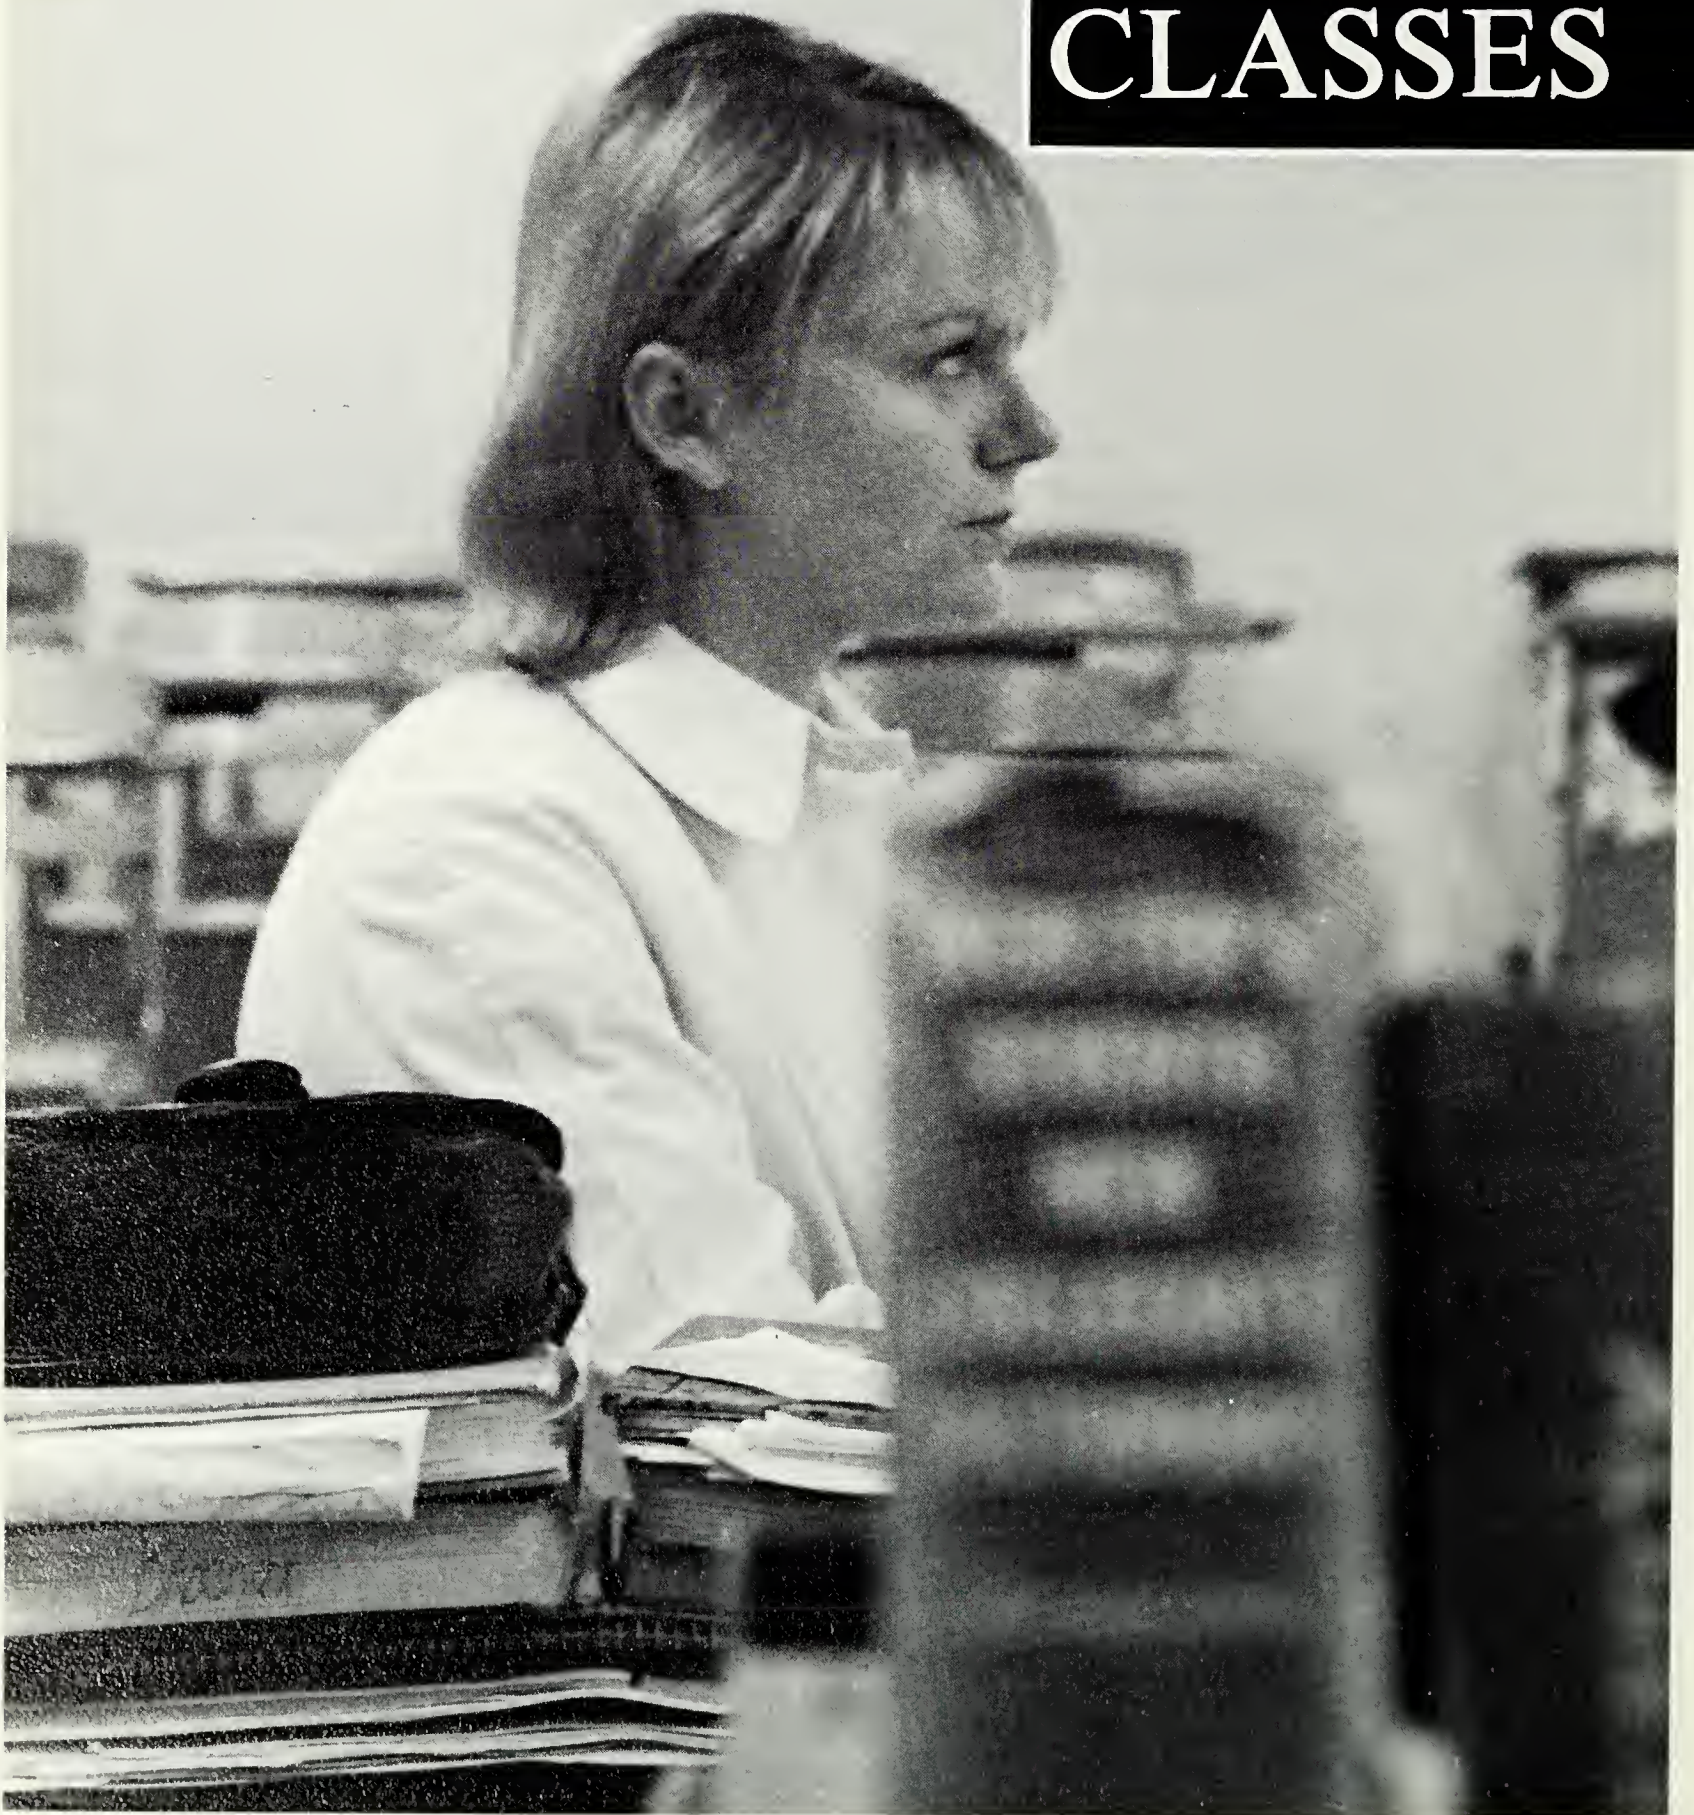

Social Studies Teachers, M. R. Conrad and J. M. High

Mr. High lectures eighth grade history students.

REPORTER AND SCOREKEEPER

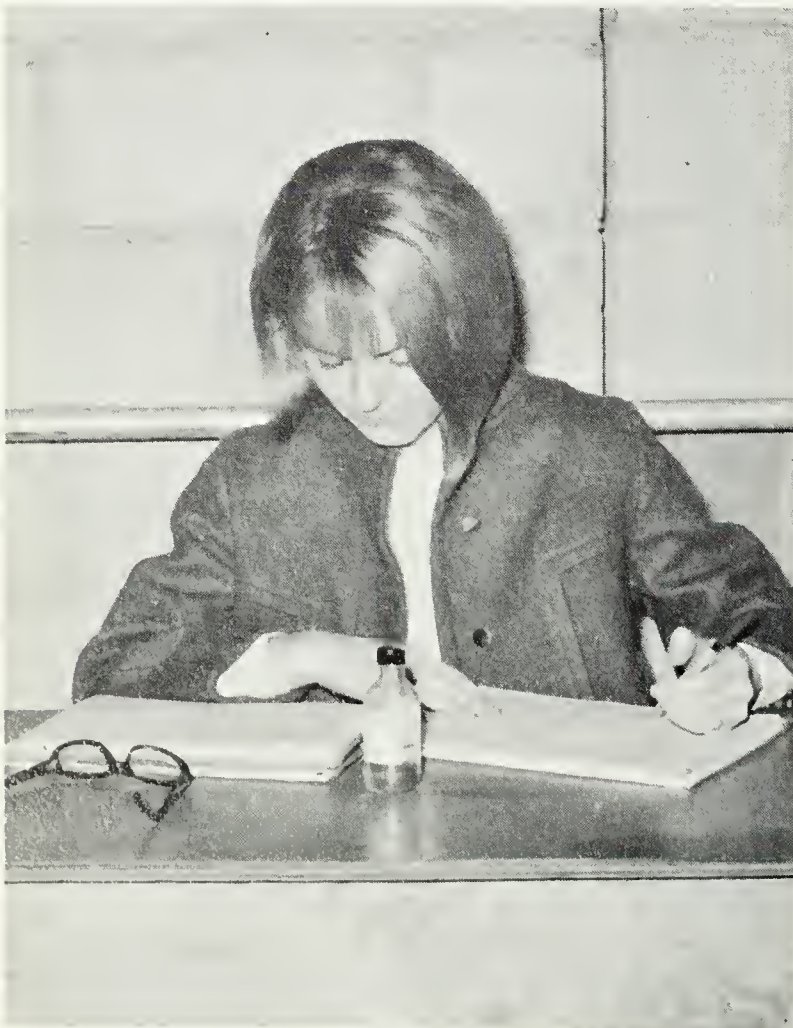

Good publicity is beneficial to any school. Brunswick Academy, with the cooperation of the local press, has been fortunate in having its achievements reported to its patrons and the general public.

Many people have at various times, contributed information to the papers. However, the name most associated with new items from Brunswick Academy has been Ailease Clary.

From the school's founding, Ailease has devoted an untold number of hours to gathering, writing, rewriting, and delivering news for publication. Though most of her work has been associated with sports, she has also reported other activities worthy of public interest. Her efforts are to be commended.

Ailease Clary

Alice Moore

What would sports be without statistics, those hard, cold facts which linger on paper after a ball game is over? They provide coaches, players, and fans alike with a means of evaluating both team and individual performances.

In this respect, Alice Moore has contributed much to the athletic teams of Brunswick Academy. As scorekeeper in baseball and basketball, and statistician in football, she has recorded information important to the team's future performance.

Though the public is seldom aware of it, a high school scorekeeper often has to dodge flying bats, balls, and even players while still keeping up with the game. Through all this, and over several seasons, Alice has rendered an outstanding job.

HOMECOMING ACTIVITIES

Mr. Lyman Harrell straightens Alice Moore's crown as onlooker takes a picture.

On Saturday, November 2, Brunswick Academy observed its second annual Homecoming.

The activities began with an afternoon football game with Albemarle Academy. Burnell Hawthorne, president of the S.C.O., led the pre-game ceremonies with a welcome to alumni and friends. Rev. Ray Yarborough delivered the invocation which was followed by the playing of the National Anthem.

During half-time, the Hon. Lyman C. Harrell crowned a radiant senior, Alice Moore, as Homecoming Queen. Ailease Clary, also a senior, was chosen as Maid-of-Honor.

The homecoming festivities were climaxed with a dance on Saturday evening given by the S.C.O. in honor of the Queen and her court.

Miss Brunswick Academy—Glenda Grizzard

Brunswick Academy held its fifth annual beauty pageant November 15, 1968. The capacity crowd in the Elm Acres Community Center focused its attention on the graceful young ladies with pretty hairdos and formal gowns.

The black velvet-like stage backdrop with the Queen's title written in gold created an elegant atmosphere for the event.

The Master of Ceremonies, James Vaughan, introduced each candidate as she mounted the stage on the arm of her escort.

After all the excitement, the judges came up with their final decision.

SEVENTH GRADE

Mrs. Joyner welcomes new seventh graders.

By the time a student enrolls in the seventh grade, he is able to deal effectively with concepts and to follow through the development of ideas. However he is at an age in which his needs and problems are more varied and complex.

In this grade, the student is stimulated and assisted to develop, primarily by his own efforts, to reach the maximum of his capacities. He is encouraged to make the most of himself.

If a student is to advance satisfactorily, he must be guided in areas other than the principal one of instruction in the basic subjects. Emphasis is placed on manners, moral and spiritual values, traits of good character and emotional control.

The seventh grade is truly an important grade! It may be said that it is the bridge which leads from the lower to the upper school!

Seventh graders hard at work.

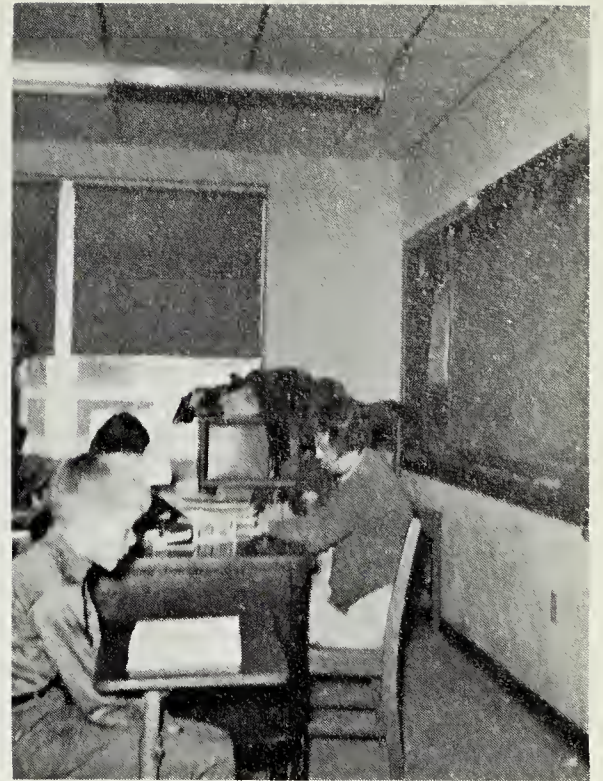

Equations are fully explained.

By the time a student reaches the Sixth Grade, his studies include a variety of subjects. Some of these are: reading, spelling, language, social studies, science, and mathematics. All of these subjects will play a vital part in the student's future.

Language arts are stressed, for lack of comprehension of what one reads causes failure in other areas such as history, science, and so forth.

A great part of each day is spent studying, but it is not all work and no play. The children enjoy physical education and art classes.

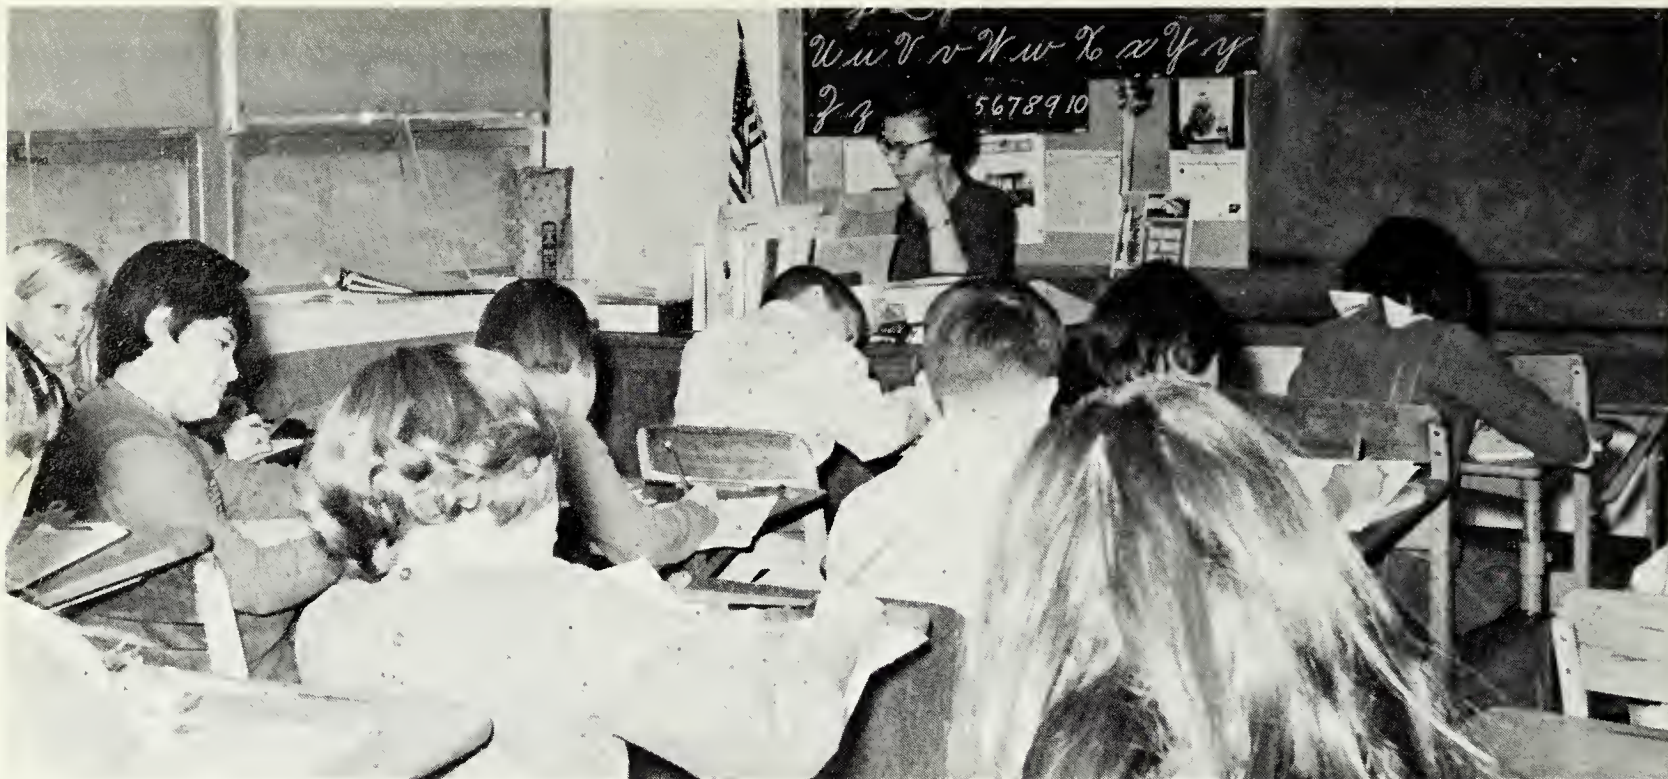

Mrs. Glidewell calls roll.

SIXTH GRADE

Studious Sixth Graders.

Fifth graders hard at work.

FIFTH GRADE

Since their first year of school, boys and girls have had many learning experiences in language arts, social studies, health, science, arithmetic, and other areas of the curriculum. They have used reading as a medium of learning. What satisfaction and enjoyment can be found in books!

In Language, storytelling, describing, writing letters, reviewing books, giving directions, explaining and enjoying poetry are some of the basic areas covered. Of course, usage, punctuation, and capitalization are emphasized.

Also the phonics skills taught in the previous grades are reviewed, applied, and extended in grade five.

Grade five is midstream in the pupils' journey through arithmetic.

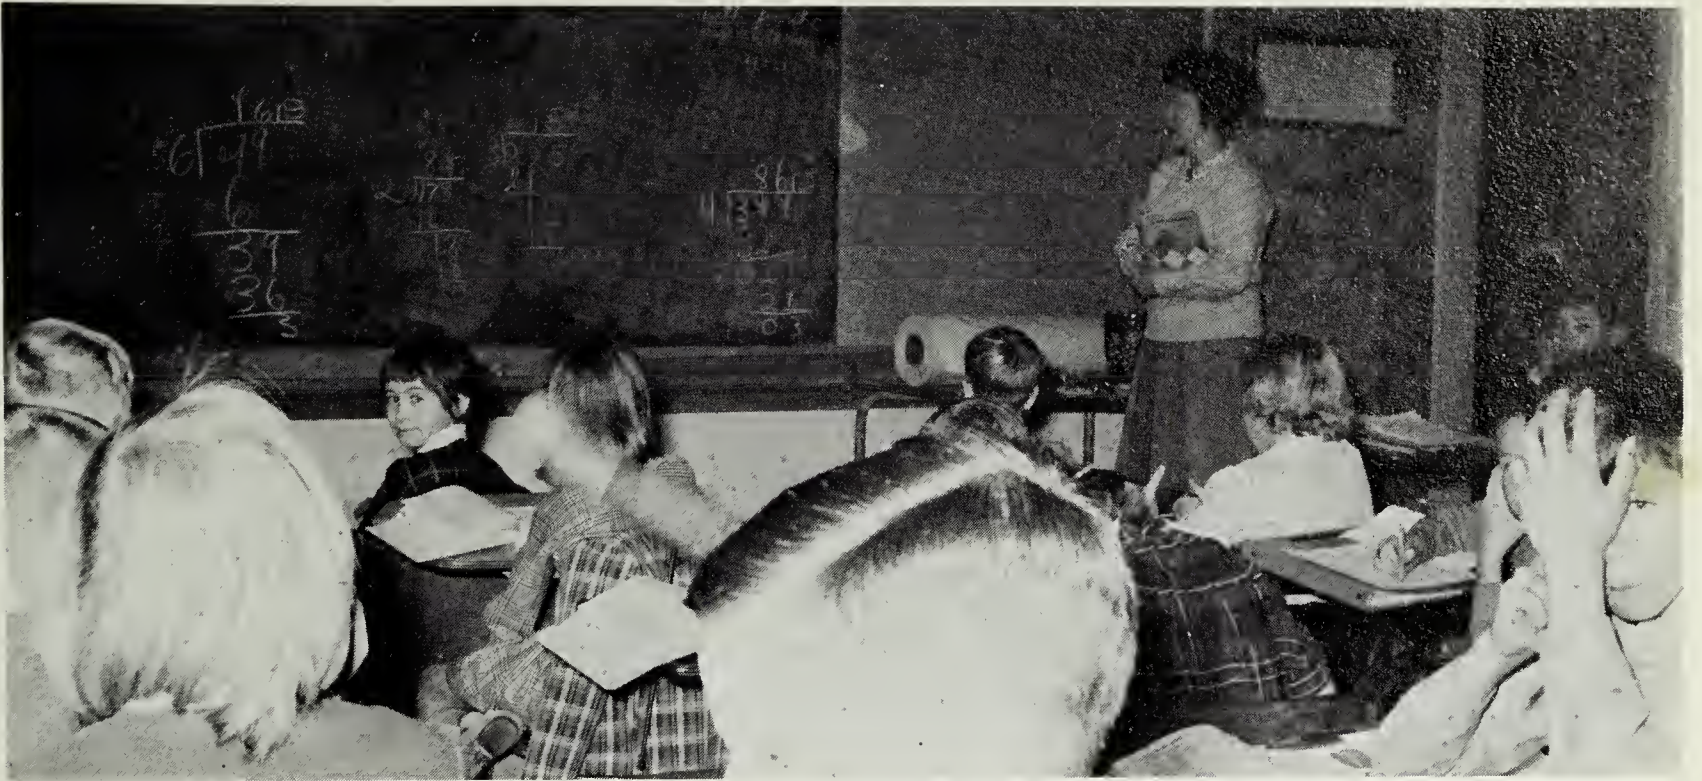

Our program includes a thorough teaching of division with two-figure divisors, work with fractions, scale drawings and graphs.

Mrs. Chandler teaches class.

In geography and history, we learn how, why, and when the New World was discovered. We learn some of the basic facts about the shape and size of our world. Much emphasis is on people—how they live on the earth and use its resources in a variety of ways.

Science, health, and safety are taught together. How tall can you grow? Why do boats float? These are some of the problems we try to solve by reading, trying things out and conducting experiments in our Science and Health Program.

Mrs. Shield teaches her fourth grade long division.

FOURTH GRADE

The fourth grade marks a transition from primary to middle grade activities. It is an interesting and challenging stage in a student's growth. It is at this level that the pupil must use more and more of the fundamentals he has learned in the first three grades. He must be able to work more independently. He also uses curvise writing for the first time for all his work.

At Brunswick Academy, this year's 33 fourth graders were divided into two smaller groups for most of the day. This allows more individual attention. Mrs. Doss works with fourteen of the students, while Mrs. Shield works with the other nineteen. When the weather permits, Mr. High takes charge of outdoor activities.

Mrs. Doss teaches Science.

Mrs. Shield calls class to order.

THIRD GRADE

Third graders decorate for Christmas.

Mrs. Blackwell teaching third grade spelling.

The reading book, Roads to Follow, is a perfect title for the third grade.

Reading, arithmetic, language, spelling, science, and health all take us down many roads of adventure.

Our world is indeed a full one — full of learning, playing with friends and all the other things that make for a happy, healthy environment which allows us to grow in all areas.

Third grade decorates Christmas tree.

Mrs. Reed's class busily at work.

SECOND GRADE

Second graders startled by photographer.

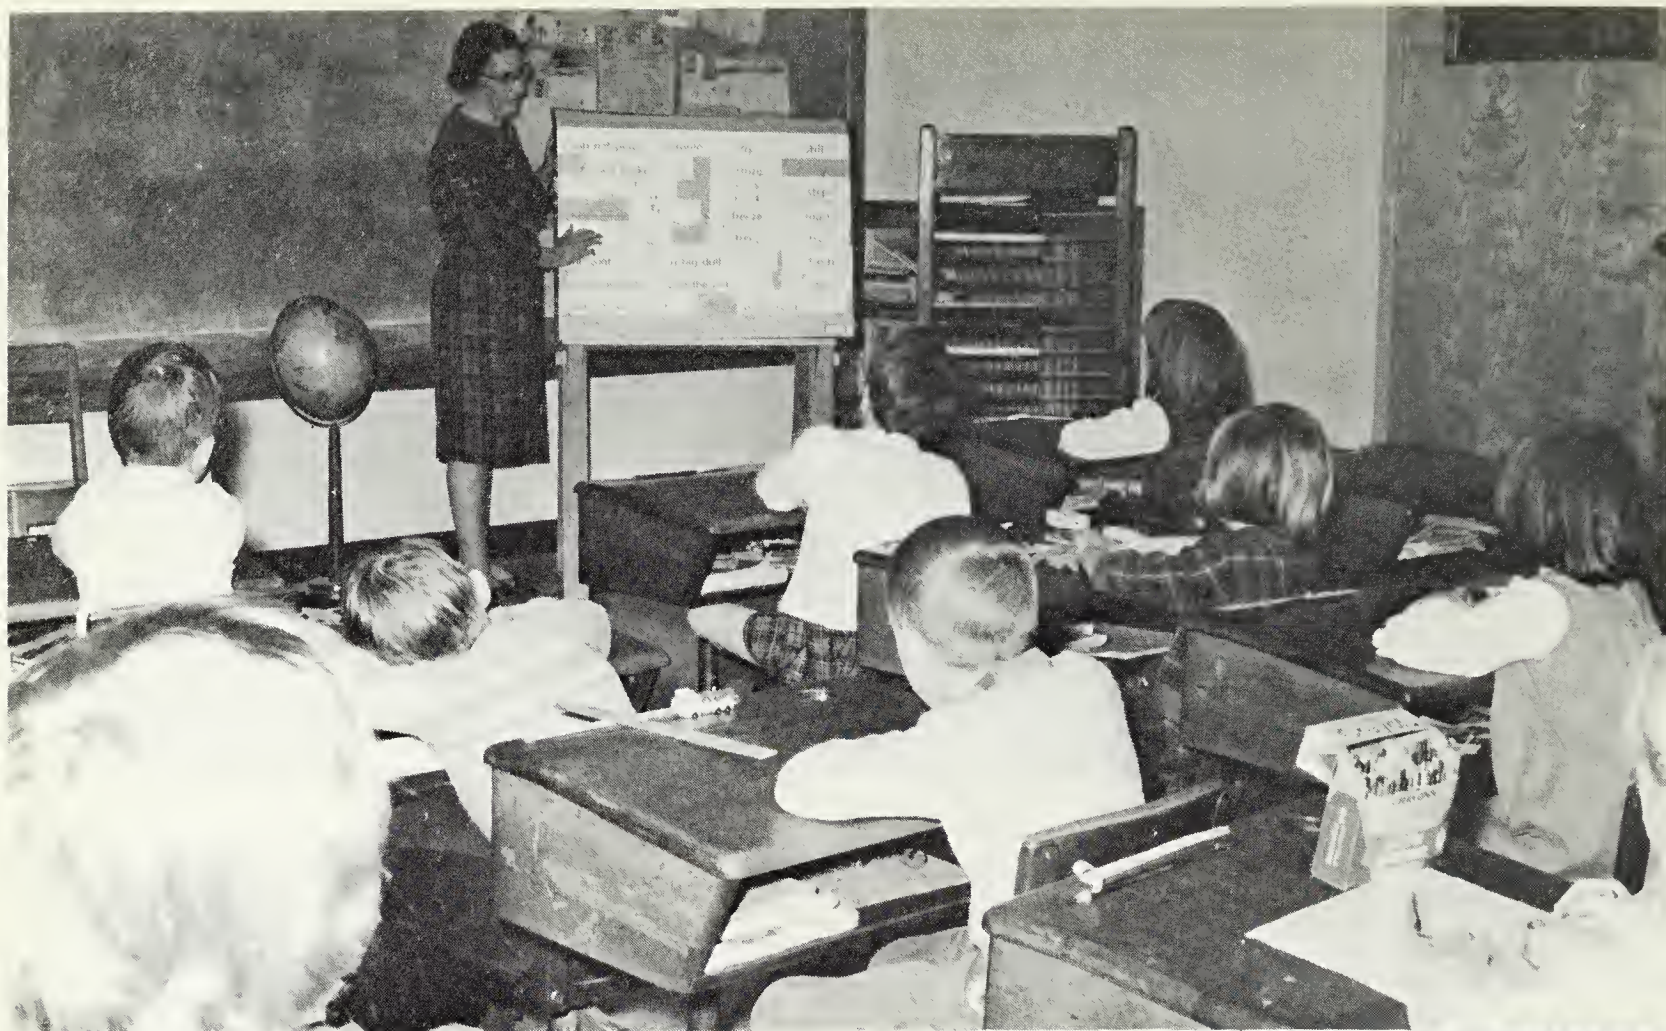

Second graders are trying to grow as individuals and as members of a group. Through discussions and the use of books, desirable habits, skills, attitudes, and appreciations are developed. Also valuable information is gained. The main center of interest is the community in which they live. A better understanding of the workers in the community is achieved by taking trips to see the actual work of the people around them.

Through the use of phonetic workbooks the children are becoming independent readers. They find it interesting to be able to analyze a word and sound it out by themselves.

Numbers are used as a normal part of their daily experience in making change.

But the most exciting experience of all is learning to write like grownups. When they can stop printing and, using their expression, begin "real writing" they have reached their goal in the Second Grade.

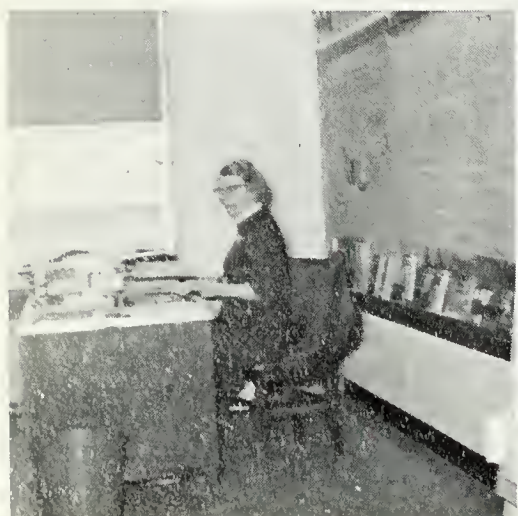

Mrs. Crichton teaches phonics.

FIRST GRADE

Phonics is stressed in grade 1 as a foundation for both reading and spelling. A variety of material is used to stimulate the desire to read. In number work, combinations to 10 in meaningful situations are taught.

Mrs. Hawthorne uses number cards.

KINDERGARTEN

Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Cannon take charge of many bundles of energy.

In order for a building to be strong, it must have a strong foundation. We believe that in Kindergarten we begin building a foundation for a good education.

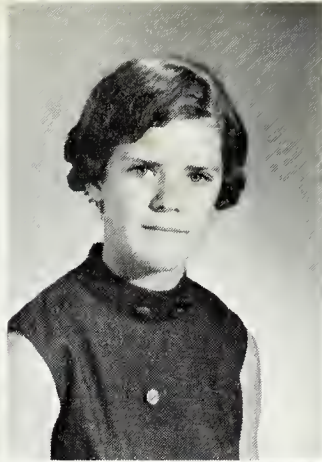

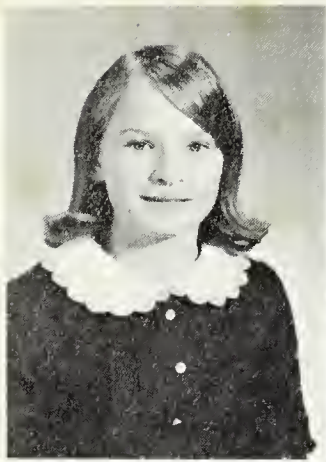

Here at Brunswick Academy, in addition to the regular building blocks of alphabet, numbers, songs, stories, and games, we have two strong rules that we want to use in building our foundation. They are The Golden Rule—"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," and the other important rule—Listen! We must learn to listen to learn.

Mrs. Vincent assists Mrs. Nash by counting lunch orders.

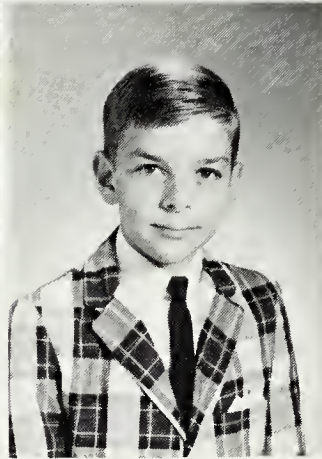

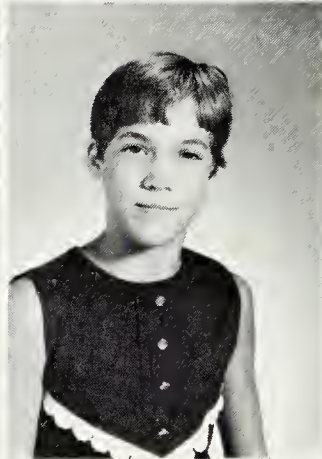

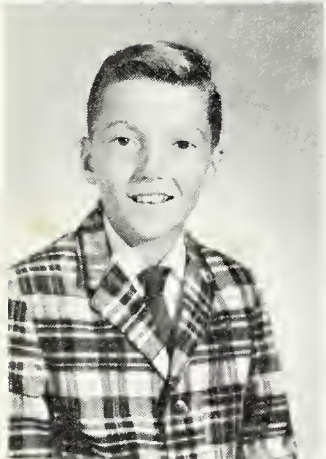

Ordering lunch is of prime importance to little folks.

LITTLE QUEEN OF HEARTS

Each year girls are selected from each class in the lower school to participate in the Little Queen of Hearts contest. The young lady from this group who receives the highest number of votes becomes the Little Queen of Hearts for the coming year. The winner is announced at the annual Queen of Hearts dance. The 1969 winner was Miss Cathy Moore. First and second runners-up were Miss Deborah Norwood and Miss Kay Lynch, respectively.

IN CLOSING

If the old Chinese proverb is true, and a picture is worth a thousand words, then within the preceding pages lie the end results of thousands upon thousands of words' worth of work. Just as a snapshot merely presents an image of an object, so the 1969 VIKING can only hope to have presented a silhouette of a year's activities at Brunswick Academy.

The majority of the work of producing any yearbook rests on the shoulders of the yearbook staff. No staff, however, could produce a good yearbook without a great deal of cooperation from other people. It would be an impossible task to list and properly thank each individual who contributed in some way to this year's book. It is hoped, however, that each one who made any contribution will recognize himself in the following list and accept the appreciation of those who composed and edited the 1969 VIKING.

With no order of importance implied, grateful acknowledgement is given to:

- . . . the staff—for time spent in all phases of the preparation of this book, from the birth of an idea to its final appearance on these pages.
- . . . the administration and teachers—for their cooperation and understanding in what were, at times, trying circumstances, for allowing photographers to disrupt their classes and activities, for contributing information essential to the sections on curriculum, for their role in selling subscriptions.
- . . . the students—for making possible the school and its activities which this yearbook covers, for subscribing to this VIKING in larger numbers than ever before.
- . . . the patrons—for being willing to help whenever it was requested, for releasing students from home chores so that they might sell ads or plan lay-outs.
- . . . the advertisers—for providing the financial backing without which no good high school yearbook could be published.

With the turning of a page, we end another year in the life of Brunswick Academy—a significant year—number five. It marks the end of an era, so to speak, for those who entered this school as timid eighth graders now leave it as confident, graduating seniors. It is our hope that this book will provide a clear, accurate summary of the year's events and will also be a source of pleasure to our departing seniors and others, now, and in the years to come.
